DISCIPLESHIP REBOOT

A Handbook for Biblical Disciple-Making

Jay Lickey

Jesus’ words in Matthew 28:19 are called The Great Commission: “Go therefore and make disciples . . .” If Jesus said it, we need to do it.

Take the challenge to go out and make disciples. Here is a practical handbook to teach you exactly how to disciple others.

SANCTUARY
Hope and Help for Victims of Domestic Abuse
Sydney Millage

Oppressed, hurting women continue to look for help and safety, but there is a disconnection between their need and provision. Women are seeking help. Church leaders, many of whom are volunteers, want to help. Individuals are concerned. Why, then, are women failing to find help in local churches? What prevents our churches from effectively helping women who are abused by their husbands?

The missing piece is an understanding of domestic abuse and how to apply the good news of Jesus, His Word and character to what has remained unseen, unknown, and misunderstood.

“... (Sydney Millage has) provided comprehensive hope and help for victims of domestic abuse, counselors and friends who come alongside them, and churches striving to shepherd members righteously and compassionately.”

Dr. Brent Aucoin, President of Faith Bible Seminary, Pastor and Counselor at Faith Church in Lafayette, IN

WITH THE MASTER ON THE MOUNT
A Ladies’ Bible Study of the Sermon on the Mount
Susan J. Heck

We are living in an age of apostasy; an age of a great falling away from the life of holiness that God requires of kingdom citizens. We rationalize and minimize our sin and we rarely confess it, much less mourn over it. Jesus, in His Sermon on the Mount, leaves no doubt as to what He expects from those who profess to be His children.

Periods of extreme physical pain and mental fatigue can plague any one of us. From the medical perspective, chronic illness is defined as “an illness that last three months or more” but practical help and eternal hope is available for those who are physically suffering.

Find out the wrong and right responses to dealing with chronic illness. Be encouraged to reach out for help from the beautiful blessings of the body of Christ. God made each of us dependent upon Him and His body, the local church.

Retail: $5.00 Booklet, 50 Pages

We all know we are going to die sometime, but we are stopped in our tracks when a medical diagnosis tells us it will be soon. Life changes immediately and drastically in an attempt to come to terms with the shocking news. But for the Christian, it does not have to bring despair.

The valleys of life are dark places. We all experience black clouds of discouragement from time to time on our journey through life. There are times when we feel overwhelmed with a sense of hopelessness and the inability to deal with the pressures and problems we face in life or ministry. Even so, we may be sure that we will at some point. Jesus warned us: “In the world you will have tribulation” (John 16:33).

PTSD
A Biblical Perspective for Hope and Help

Henry Beaulieu

Current literature on Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder asserts that anyone who has gone through a life-threatening event can develop the symptoms associated with what is commonly known as PTSD. Psychological and medical models say that everyone subjected to the stress of ongoing combat operations will experience some degree of PTSD. However, the disorder goes beyond the scope of military action. Terrorist attacks, sexual or physical assault (in childhood or as an adult), mass shootings, and a range of natural disasters may also produce debilitating long-term effects.

Here you will find a list of symptoms of PTSD, common therapeutic models, and then a valuable contrast with biblical and long-lasting answers. You can experience genuine “rest” and relief from the crippling fear and stress of PTSD symptoms.

HOPE BEYOND DESPAIR
Finding Truth after a Loved One’s Suicide

Julie Gossack

There is no heartache equal to that of losing a loved one. Unanswered questions, despair and perhaps self-blame can leave those left behind with feelings of hopelessness. But true hope and help can be found in Christ alone. Julie Gossack shares from personal experience how the truth of Scripture and the hope of the Gospel can bring comfort to those who are living in the aftermath of a suicide.

“Suicide is one of the most destructive sins imaginable. The question is where we can possibly find hope after the suicide of a loved one. Julie rightly points us to hope in Christ and His sufficient Word.”

THE HEART OF DOMESTIC ABUSE
Gospel Solutions for Men who use Control and Violence in the Home

Chris Moles

Domestic abuse and violence are on the rise in our culture today. With an estimated one-fourth of women in the church living with abuse, pastors and biblical counselors need to have the resources to offer hope and help. With vast experience in batterer intervention, and training in biblical counseling, Chris Moles encourages godly men in the church to call abusive men to repentance and accountability through the power of the Holy Spirit.

“Here is a treatment protocol for men who abuse that helps us see whether genuine heart change is taking place.”

Sin is rebellion against God; it is a heart set on having its own way. Christians are not powerless to truly overcome an “addiction” if they have the indwelling power of the Holy Spirit to enable them to say ‘no’ to choices that will mentally enslave them.

This book makes the distinction between what the world terms a “disease” and what Scripture demonstrates is a life-dominating sin nature problem. Here you will find biblical tools to help you examine your heart’s motives at the root of the “addiction.” The Heart of Addiction is being heralded as the leading, practical book on addictions from a biblical perspective today.

ADDICTION-PROOF PARENTING
Biblical Prevention Strategies

Mark E. Shaw

What has happened to parenting in America? Even within the Body of Christ we have forgotten what it means to bring our children up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord. Mark Shaw has vast experience in helping people struggling with addictive-type sins. With a solid biblical foundation, he explains what God has to say about addiction in the Bible, making this book unique in the field of parenting resources.

Are you raising an “addict”? Dr. Shaw details 5 mentalities that we unwittingly tend to foster in our children, and they may surprise you. But take heart, there is hope and strength found in God’s Word, and power from His Holy Spirit to assist you in addiction-proofing your children.

HOW NOT TO RAISE AN ADDICT

Mark E. Shaw

No one can predict if a child will grow up to be an “addict” of some kind. A child becomes addicted by personal choice and is 100% responsible for the first decision to abuse an addictive substance. Often parenting skills have a direct impact upon your children.

This booklet gives an overview of the five basic mentalities of “addictive” thinking. There are dangerous mindsets that children can develop that will likely lead to addictive choices and behavior. Most often, parents acting in love for their children, don’t realize how much they may be contributing to the mindsets described here.

Written in the spirit of C.S. Lewis and his “Screwtape Letters,” here is a “What Not to Do” for parents in training their children at any age. It is never too late.

WITH THE MASTER ... IN HEAVENLY PLACES
A Ladies’ Bible Study of Ephesians

Susan Heck

Ephesians 2:6 promises that Christians will sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus. In this letter Paul often mentions the heavenly places, and he wants God’s children to know that if we could see ourselves as we are in Christ in the heavenly places, it would “revolutionize our lives and change our whole outlook” (D.M. Lloyd-Jones). What we believe determines how we will live for Him. What we believe about Heaven will determine how we live for the life to come. Search the Scriptures and see the spiritual resources we have at our disposal in Heavenly Places.

STRENGTH IN NUMBERS
The Team Approach to Biblical Counseling
Mark Shaw

The team concept of ministry is not new as we see examples throughout the Bible of God sending men and women in teams to do His work. The biblical counseling movement is helping to return “soul care” to the Bible-believing church. This book presents a replication model that intentionally trains and multiplies biblical counselors in your local church. Whether you are a pastor who counsels, a biblical counselor in full-time ministry, or a lay person who is often approached for spiritual advice, this book will be a valuable resource to help you implement team biblical counseling in your church.

Modeled by the Apostle
Edited by Mark E. Shaw & Bill Hines

The Apostle Paul had a passion to help Christians grow spiritually and apply biblical principles to the everyday challenges they encountered and that we face today. In that sense, Paul taught the same lessons that biblical counselors teach today. We are all called to counsel and disciple one another and the practical lessons in this book will be referred to over and over again. Chapters are authored by men and women who are biblical counselors and include such topics as Paul’s model of change, Paul’s lessons on temptation, renewing the mind, women in ministry and leaving the past behind.

DECEPTIVE DIAGNOSIS
When Sin is Called Sickness
David Tyler and Kurt Grady
Foreword by Ed Bulkley

In the mid-1960’s, a major shift occurred in the church. Instead of calling sinful and deviant behavior “sin,” it was labeled “sickness.” Now, instead of seeking God’s definitions and explanations of human behavior, more and more people are accepting a secular worldview based on humanistic psychology rather than the Bible. Believers have been duped into thinking they are sick and need recovery.

ATTITUDES OF A TRANSFORMED HEART

Martha Peace

Christians and non-Christians alike often embrace a low view of God, and consequently a casual view of sin and Scripture. This low view of God is reflected in the attitudes of our heart. This book is about being “transformed by the renewing of your mind” and not being “conformed to this world” (Romans 12:2).

Your heart is who you are on the inside. It is what you think, your motives, and your desires. Our hearts have been conformed to the world’s way of thinking. It takes grace from God and work on our part for our minds to be transformed to think God-honoring thoughts and to truly discern unbiblical philosophies.

If you have a teachable heart, this book will help you truly honor God by what you think. Study questions are at the end of each chapter.

MARRIAGE IS HARD:

Truths I Wish I Had Understood Before I Got Married

Susan Black

The reality is that all marriages are hard because they all have unavoidable and unanticipated challenges and trials. Marriage is hard because it is the union of two sinners engaged in the eternal battle between self-centeredness and servanthood, between living for self or dying to self. But God is faithful, and He has a gracious plan of heart-transformation for any wife who will commit her way to Him. Group study questions for each of ten chapters.

THE PURSUIT OF PERFECTION
A Biblical Perspective
Mark E. Shaw and Bill Hines

Striving for perfection can fall into many categories, and while Christians are to “do all for the glory of God,” does that mean we are to hold ourselves to a level of perfection that is impossible to attain? And even if we could attain it, is that what God really calls us to do? The difference between God’s laws for obedience and our self-imposed expectations must be understood in order for a person who is a “perfectionist” to experience freedom.

SELF-ESTEEM
Are We Really Better Than We Think?
David M. Tyler

Over the past 40 years the idea of esteeming one’s self has had a tremendous influence on the Christian church. Years ago, the pursuit of self-love was generally thought to be sinful. Self-esteem is not a biblical concept, and in fact, the opposite is true. Scripture teaches that we are to esteem others as greater than ourselves. The truth is that we have too much self-esteem and not enough God-esteem. Ultimately we must view ourselves as God does, as sinners, desperately in need of God’s forgiving, pardoning and enabling grace and love. This booklet will put “self-esteem” in a proper, biblical perspective.

FORGIVEN PEOPLE FORGIVE
A Biblical Response to Forgiveness
Jeff Miller

Some have said that forgiveness is the most difficult commandment we are given as Christians. And why is that? Perhaps it is because it strikes at the core of our pride that says we deserve better than we are getting. Or, does it seem that if we forgive, we are letting that person “win” in a situation that hurt us in some way. In this short booklet, Pastor Jeff Miller shows us where the rubber meets the road; at the very heart of why we want to forgive others. Forgiveness is hard, but it must be the very essence of who we are, and we are called to do hard things.

SO WHAT’S WRONG WITH LIVING TOGETHER?
Jeff Miller

Men and women of all ages are living together outside of marriage in our society today. Many do not believe it is wrong. But what does God say about it? This short volume is a comprehensive look at cohabitation from a biblical perspective, along with a response to the many logical reasons why this is considered by many to be acceptable.

THE PEACE AND JOY PRINCIPLE
Joe Propri

There are two kinds of peace in the life of a Christian. The first is a positional peace given as a gift by God Himself, and purchased for us by the blood of Jesus Christ. The second kind of peace is subjective, where one experiences a sense that “all is well” in every situation. The Peace and Joy Principle will teach you how it is possible to be content in any situation.

WOUNDED, WARRIOR, WISDOM
Three Stages of a Man’s Life
Keith Kaynor

The Warrior, Wounded, Wisdom pattern fits several great men of the Bible—Elijah, Moses, Joseph and Job. The warrior thinks he is invincible. But what happens if God sets out to mature his faith? What happens if he is wounded? Will he emerge into the post productive state—wisdom—or will he set up permanent residence in Woundedville?

This booklet will prepare warriors for what may be ahead, assist wounded men to move on, and help caregivers assist the wounded toward Wisdomville.

SIX STONE JARS
God's Remedy for Fear, Worry & Anxiety
Dan Manningham

SIX STONE JARS addresses Paul's seemingly impossible instruction in Philippians 4:6 to “not be anxious about anything.” Our natural response is “Just how do I accomplish that?” Scripture tells us how to fill our faith vessels and watch as Jesus turns our obedience into blessings. This book gives six biblical, useful and practical tools to combat those times of fear, worry and anxiety.

WHEN GOD CHOOSES
The Life of David
Keith Kaynor

There is so much more to David of the Bible than the boy who killed Goliath and the man who committed adultery with Bathsheba. He is a man to know. So much of Scripture is devoted to David that we must believe God wants us to know this man after His own heart. David’s life experiences are our own, and we can find great encouragement and blessing in his Psalms.

A CALL TO CHRISTIAN PATRIOTISM
A Weekly Devotional Essay Series
Dr. Howard Eyrich

This book is a call to reflect on what it means to be a Christian American. It will help you capture the passion for God and country that seems to be lost in today’s society.

52 weekly lessons on becoming a Christian Patriot. Each lesson correlates with a biblical text, and challenges you to choose from an extensive list of Action Steps. This is a great opportunity to engage the next generation through family study of the principles and standards upon which our country was founded, and how it became a beacon for freedom across the world.

In these uncertain times, people are worried about the future. Every day we hear of another impending crisis. The world is held in a fragile balance that could at any moment be shattered by an act of terrorism, failed diplomacy, or natural disaster. People will go to extreme lengths to know the future, yet everything we need to know is found in God’s Word, the Holy Bible.

When Jesus left this earth, He gave us words of comfort, “Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world gives… Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid” (John 14:27), and a promise: “I will come again and receive you unto myself…” (verse 3). Jesus said we should watch for the signs that will indicate when He will return.

What are these signs and how are we as Christians to respond to the urgency of life’s challenges today? In what ways do we prepare ourselves? What should we do until our Lord returns? This book will answer these questions and hopefully show you the way to find the peace that Jesus promised.

JESUS CHRIST
Self-Denial or Self-Esteem
David Tyler

There is a great emphasis on self in our culture today; self-esteem, self-love, self-worth, self-image and many more. Love for self motivates us to follow our own agenda, vent our feelings, justify self, and blame someone else or something else for problems we face. This is not taught in the Bible. The main emphasis on self in the Bible is self-denial and self-sacrifice. This book examines the words and actions of Jesus Christ and will demonstrate that He was others-oriented; that He taught and modeled self-denial as opposed to self-love. A Christian cannot esteem himself and take up the cross at the same time.

GOD’S FUNERAL
Psychology: Trading the Sacred for the Secular
David M. Tyler

There has been a subtle and increasing change in the theology of the Christian Church today. Our taste for anything psychology appears to be insatiable, and has led the Church, with disastrous consequences down the road of accommodation and compromise.

We have traded the sacred for the secular. Psychology’s influence, like a soaking rain, has reached down into the roots of people’s lives. In the past when we had problems, we would seek God. Today, when faced with the same problems, we seek a therapist.

This book will challenge your thinking. It is a call to return to the sufficient words of God found in Scripture, and to seek help from biblical counselors when life’s problems overwhelm us.

THE GIFT

Jan Haley

The Wise Man is preparing to leave on his long journey to follow the Christmas Star when his young son makes a request common to many children: “Father, will you bring me something? A Gift?” Amused, his father responds, “Oh, this time I am taking a gift to another child!”

This periscope view of the Christmas story, from the perspective of a wise man and his son, illustrates the meaning of Epiphany—the revelation of God to the Gentile world.
